

DAVID BYRD Ten Stops

The David Byrd Estate is pleased to announce DAVID BYRD Ten Stops, an art pilgrimage of ten exhibitions that illuminate the life and artistic trajectory of David Byrd. Byrd, who worked in obscurity for decades, created hundreds of paintings, drawings, sculptures and a book about the people, places and situations that haunted his memory. Each exhibition in the series exposes a layer of the late artist's reclusive life and showcases a segment of his oeuvre, including the stone and salvaged wood home/studio Byrd designed and built on twelve bucolic acres in the Catskills. DAVID BYRD Ten Stops will culminate in an old-time Catskill country auction at his home in early fall 2017.

"The war with the house continues. I'm seeing rocks in my soup I'm so preoccupied with them. It feels like I'm building the pyramids. It goes on forever...I am looking forward to painting again and adventure. Well painting anyhow. I know adventure—in painting."
—David Byrd

DAVID BYRD
Ten Stops

July–November 2017

DAVID BYRD, born in Springfield, IL, was a child of the Great Depression, one of five children of a single, impoverished mother and a father who killed himself when David was a young boy. Mental illness coursed through his family. At the age of 16, he escaped to Brooklyn, NY. After serving in World War II, David attended the Ozenfant School of Fine Art in NYC on the G.I. Bill. For 30 years, Byrd balanced an art practice alongside a career at the Veteran's Administration Medical Hospital in Montrose, NY where, as an orderly, he cared for psychiatric patients. In 1988, Byrd retired from the V.A., bought land and began building his home and studio, stone by stone. In near isolation, he was finally free to paint. At the age of 87, he saw his first exhibition. When Byrd died, his home contained almost every work of art he ever created.
